

A Wolves Life

Wolves are members of the dog family. They have yellow eyes and have muscular bodies with sharp, strong teeth. There are a lot of different types of Wolves for example a Mexican Wolf, Russian Wolf and Eastern Timber Wolf and so on.

WOLVES!

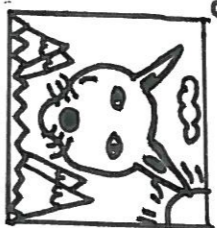

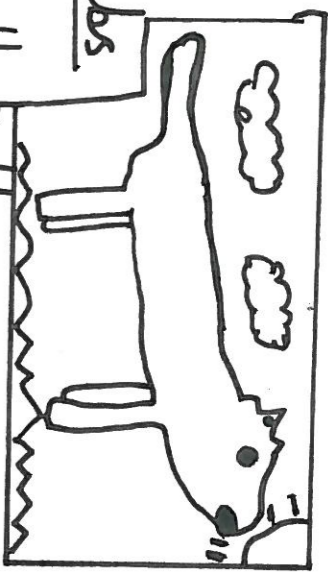

—AH WOOL!

What Wolves Hunt
Wolves eat a lot of things but they normally chase packs like Moose, Caribou, Bison and Deer.

Baby Cubs

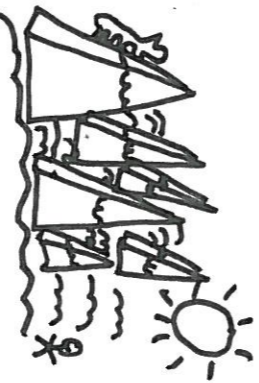

The tunnel that the Cubs live in is 15 ft long with room for one adult wolf. Cubs have a tough life because when their dad goes hunting the Alpha female stays behind to look after the Cubs. If the Alpha male doesn't get any food the Cubs will starve to death!

Did You Know?
The Simion Wolf is only found in the Simion Mountains of Ethiopia, East Africa.

A Cubs Life

A Cub is a miniature Wolf, but is a baby. They aren't allowed out of the den unless they're more than 8 weeks old. Their Mum feeds her Cubs milk. If a Cub dies because he starves, the mother and her other cubs will have to eat it, if the Alpha male does return with food then they can feast on the meat.

GRRR!

Hunting

If a Wolf see's prey then he will pounce on the animal and eat it. But it's not that easy with big prey, Wolves will go from behind and attack.
